

Registered Specialist in Periodontics

Rachel Manning

BDS, FDSRCS, PhD, MRD RCS (Perio)

Following graduation in 1987 and a brief period of vocational training Rachel studied in Liverpool for a PhD as well as working in various departments at Liverpool Dental Hospital. After this, a year was spent as an SHO in Oral Surgery at Addenbrookes Hospital, Cambridge.

Rachel was a Lecturer in Periodontology at the Eastman Dental Institute from 1994 until 1999 when she became a Specialist Registrar in Restorative Dentistry at the Eastman Dental Hospital. She entered the Specialist List in 2000 for Periodontology. With a broad base not only in Periodontology but also in Restorative Dentistry, Rachel is happy to accept referrals for patients with periodontal problems as well as those requiring more complex treatment planning and care within Restorative Dentistry. She has wide experience in fixed and removable prosthodontics and patients with tooth wear. Rachel has been placing and restoring dental implants for nearly 20 years and welcomes referrals for implants.

Rachel carries out all types of periodontal treatment, including periodontal surgery, crown lengthening and soft tissue grafting and regenerative procedures.

Since 2007 Rachel has worked at Ware dental Care. She is also employed two days a week in London as a Specialist at The Eastman Dental Hospital (UCLH) and was recently offered a post as a locum Consultant in Perio where she runs a new patient clinic, treats patients with periodontal disease and teaches trainee Specialists practical periodontology and implant dentistry.

Rachel is a member of the British Society of Periodontology and the Association of Dental Implantology.
